Travel Like a Local

One of the best ways to save money and experience Europe like a local is to stay in hostels. Hostels are a great way to meet other travelers, learn about different cultures, and find out about hidden gems that most tourists don't know about.

Andy Steves' Europe City Hopping on a Budget includes detailed reviews of hundreds of hostels throughout Europe. He'll tell you which hostels are the cleanest, the most comfortable, and the most social. He'll also give you tips on how to book hostels online and how to find the best deals.

Eat and Drink on a Budget

Food and drink can be one of the biggest expenses when traveling in Europe. But it doesn't have to be! There are plenty of ways to eat and drink on a budget if you know where to look.

Andy Steves' Europe City Hopping on a Budget includes a comprehensive guide to cheap eats in Europe. He'll tell you where to find the best street food, the cheapest restaurants, and the most affordable bars. He'll also give you tips on how to save money on groceries and how to cook meals in your hostel kitchen.

Get Around for Less

Transportation can also be a major expense when traveling in Europe. But again, there are plenty of ways to get around for less if you know how.

Andy Steves' Europe City Hopping on a Budget includes detailed information on how to get around Europe by train, bus, and plane. He'll tell you which transportation options are the cheapest, the most comfortable, and the most convenient. He'll also give you tips on how to book tickets online and how to find the best deals.

Insider Tips

In addition to all the practical information, Andy Steves' Europe City Hopping on a Budget also includes a wealth of insider tips. He'll tell you how to avoid tourist traps, how to get the best deals on souvenirs, and how to stay safe while traveling in Europe.

Whether you're a first-time traveler or a seasoned pro, Andy Steves' Europe City Hopping on a Budget is the essential guide to affordable travel in Europe. With this book in hand, you'll be able to experience the best of Europe without breaking the bank.
