How is the GAMSAT Structured?

The GAMSAT is a three-hour test that is divided into three sections. Each section is timed, and you will have a set amount of time to complete each one. The following is a breakdown of the test structure:

Section	Time	Number of Questions
Section 1: Reasoning in Humanities and Social Sciences	70 minutes	50 multiple-choice questions
Section 2: Written Communication	40 minutes	Two essay questions
Section 3: Scientific Reasoning	70 minutes	75 multiple-choice questions

How to Prepare for the GAMSAT

There are a number of things you can do to prepare for the GAMSAT. The most important thing is to start preparing early and to develop a study plan that works for you. Here are a few tips to help you get started:

- Familiarize yourself with the test format. The best way to prepare for the GAMSAT is to familiarize yourself with the test format. This will help you to understand what to expect on test day and to develop a strategy for answering the questions.

- Practice answering questions. The best way to improve your GAMSAT score is to practice answering questions. There are a number of resources available to help you practice, including practice tests, online quizzes, and study guides.
- Develop a study schedule. Once you have familiarized yourself with the test format and have practiced answering questions, it is important to develop a study schedule. This will help you to stay on track and to make the most of your study time.
- Get a good night's sleep. The night before the GAMSAT, it is important to get a good night's sleep. This will help you to be well-rested and focused on test day.

The GAMSAT is a challenging test, but it is not impossible to pass. By following the tips in this guide, you can increase your chances of success. Remember to start preparing early, to develop a study plan, and to practice answering questions. With hard work and dedication, you can achieve your dream of attending medical school.
